A Meditation On Dying And Caring (Henri J. M. Nouwen)

One day, I was sitting with Rodleigh, the leader of the troupe, talking, about flying. He said, "As a flyer, I must have complete trust in my catcher. The public might think that I am the greatest star of the trapeze, but the real star is Joe, my catcher.

"How does it work?" I asked. "The secret," Rodleigh said, "is that the flyer does nothing and the catcher does everything: when I fly to Joe, I have simply to stretch out my arms and hands and wait for him to catch me."

When Rodleigh said this with so much conviction, the words of Jesus flashed through my mind: "Father into your hands I commend my Spirit." Dying is trusting in the catcher. To care for the dying is to say, "Don't be afraid. Remember that you are the beloved child of God. He will be there when you make your long jump. Don't try to grab him; he will grab you. Just stretch out your arms and hands and trust, trust, trust."

Parting

I watched you close your eyes
I listened to every breath
I held on tightly to your hand
As you calmly welcomed death.

I tried to wish you back to life
Afraid to let you go
I wanted you to breathe again
Oh! How I loved you so

I didn't know that I could cry,
So many painful tears
Thinking of your smiling face
I've loved throughout the years

But somewhere in the hurt and pain
The love of God shines through
And helps me come to realise
I'll one day be with you

"Today you are mourning
And shedding your tears
Recalling the memories
We shared through the years
I'm safely at home now
So all you need to do
Is love one another
As I have so loved you

Don't tell me that you understand.
Don't tell me that you know.
Don't tell me that I will survive,
How I will surely grow.
Don't t come at me with answers
That can only come from me.
Don't tell me how my grief will pass,
That I will soon be free.
Accept me in my ups and downs.
I need someone to share.
Just hold my hand and let me cry
And say, "My friend; I care.
